Dear

On behalf of the department of elf management I am pleased to announce that you have officially been placed on the nice list. Because of your long history of choosing nice over naughty as reported by your elf, Santa no longer feels the need to require daily reports. This is a huge achievement that you and your family should be quite proud of!

Your elf will now be redistributed to a younger child that requires regular monitoring. Santa would like to ask you to help guide younger children in making good choices to help them stay on the nice list.

Santa will continue to monitor your naughty vs nice status randomly so please continue to make good choices. We all make mistakes sometimes but learning from them and trying to always treat others how you would want to be treated is important.

Please keep your promotion to the nice list private as not all children you know may have received their promotion yet. Congratulations again on this great accomplishment!

Crystal McSnowflakes Jr.

Sincerely,
Crystal McSnowflakes Jr.
Administrator, Elf Management
